Saturday P. M. Collision Causes Heavy Traffic Jam

Ringling Bros. Largest Elephant With Carson & Barnes Circus

By CHAS. LES R. MASSE

Jokey, the biggest animal ever to be imported by Ringling Bros., will be one of the featured attractions with Carson & Barnes, America's third largest wild animal circus, contracted to show in Grayling under the auspices of the American Legion for two performances, Saturday and Sunday, on Monday, August 17. Jokey, the only elephant ever to be too large to be conveniently transported by road cars, was obtained by Carson & Barnes Circus to augment their ever growing large herd of elephants. A special 40-foot steel semi had to be built to transport this huge animal, which weighs over 11,000 pounds. The management of Carson & Barnes will give $1,000 reward to anyone who can prove that Jokey is not the largest performing elephant on tour in America today. Elephants are actors — and workers, too! Because they are all human in their reactions to their surroundings and conditions, the elephant is the most interesting of all circus animals. Elephants like attention. They are actually pets of the circus people, just like dogs or horses, and usually form a deep affection for their trainers. Although in circus lingo an elephant is a "bull" most of them are actually females with the circus today. This is largely due to the fact that the female elephant is easier to train and has a much more amiable disposition than the male — they are actors and workers. As a performing attraction, they are worth their weight in gold. Not only do the elephants appear and do their tricks, but they also play a vital part in moving the circus.

The Crawford County Chamber of Commerce in their monthly bulletin to their members urge the writing of letters to the congressman from this district and also to the state's two Senators urging them to vote for either the Landrum-Griffith bill or the McClellan-Barden bill. Both bills seek to close the loopholes through which corruption and gangsterism have invaded the labor union movement. The United States Chamber of Commerce believes the bills would aid the rank and file union members and improve the nation's business climate.

Governor Williams To Review Massed Troops On Saturday

Pentomic Structure To Be Tested

CAMP GRAYLING — With the recent return to Michigan and its famed Hanson Military reservation this year by the Indiana National Guard following a 3-year absence, Michigan Guardsmen found setting up camp to be much easier. Most of the 1200 tents were left standing for the state's nearly 9,000 citizen soldiers when they converged on this resort area Saturday for their 18th annual summer two-week encampment since the end of World War II. While setting up and organizing this tent city took less time than previous years, the reorganization of the 46th "Iron Fist" Division earlier in the year to "pentomic" structure created some new situations and necessitated learning the new unit designations. For the newcomer or recruit, the change is having little effect but for the seasoned soldier it means a change in many of the things that he has lived with for years and the learning of new ideas and methods. The customary meeting of all of the Guard officers and key non-commissioned officers on the first Sunday morning of camp was not scheduled this year. Instead, Maj. Gen. Gordon A. MacDonald, Commanding General of the 46th Infantry Division, held a major unit commanders' meeting Saturday afternoon to set the stage for the 15-day encampment. He instructed the Guard leaders to make the most of the 104 hours of training and to instill every soldier with a consciousness for safety both during the training period and after duty hours. Full dress retreat parades will climax each day's training during the first week. Five outstanding enlisted men will receive medals at three of these colorful parades. They along with five other final-cadet winners will be competing for the most outstanding soldier award of the 1959 field training encampment. The winner of this competition will be announced Saturday and will receive the Erig. Gen. Earl R. Stewart Medal from Gov. Williams when he arrives to inspect the massed troops in the traditional division review. Later that evening the Guard "Commander-in-Chief" will be honored at a formal reception and party at the officers club. Sunday morning, August 16, he will deliver the major address at the annual memorial services on Wilson hill, paying tribute to the Guard heroes of the past. Throughout the first week of training Guardsmen will be under the observing eyes of hometown civic and business leaders. Wednesday will see over 100 visitors from Lansing, Grand Lodge, Char-lotte and Eaton Rapids. Other units from the larger metropolitan areas will be host to various visiting groups throughout the first week of encampment.

Michigan Rattle Snake

By Charles L. Poff

The young woman thought it a nice spring day for strolling along the footpath bordering one side of the river in front of her cottage. Casually walking along the bank her eyes took in the splendor that encircled her.

With lingering gaze on the rap-turous scenery her sandal-covered foot reached out and came down heavily with all weight upon it. Suddenly two pin-size pricks penetrated an exposed heel. Instinctively the foot drew back and she looked down.

Rattler!

She turned, and on the bank she began to run. But somewhere she remembered, it was bad to hurry. Hurrying only made the heart beat quicker and caused the venom to enter the blood stream faster. Fighting down panic, she walked at her normal pace, despite an almost overwhelming desire to run.

At last she could see her husband sitting on the cottage steps and called for assistance. He reached her and she related what had happened. Immediately he opened his pocket knife and made a small, deep incision directly over the fang marks. Taking off his belt, he tightened it just below her knee, rushed her to the car and sped eighteen miles to the nearest hospital.

The physician carefully examined the fang-punctured area. A mild shot of anti-snake venom was injected because the doctor explained to the worried husband, his bleeding the wound helped prevent the venom from spreading into a larger area and restrained his wife from being very sick. However, the added risk of a small child, sickly person, or an older being was struck by a rattlesnake there would be more to worry about. It depends on one's physical fitness and age. In many cases of snake bite the human body can rally against the poison with just bleeding the wound. It is advisable to contact the nearest doctor as soon as possible, regardless of how it was treated by a non-professional person. The doctor also advised against the use of a tourniquet.

der such circumstances. When circulation is shut off in such a manner, clots may form and gangrene set in. "Tourniquet" when used, should be removed after wound is clean.

Michigan, like every state in this country, has rattlesnakes. Fortunately for the Michiganian and tourist, this species of reptile is the smallest and least deadly of its cold blooded brothers. Most states have to contend with the western diamond-back, side winder, and timber rattler. All of these reach a length of more than five feet and depend on their longevity and if unmolested, the Michigan species of rattlesnake seldom attains a length of more than three feet.

It is a wide belief that rattlesnakes will give a warning before striking. It is not always so. A rattler just out of hibernation in springtime remains somewhat sluggish in movements until his body reaches a warmer temperature. When shedding skin the rattles come off too. Still, rattles are frail and are easily broken off.

Once when clearing trees from private property along the river bank I bent down to pick up my ax. A thirty-inch rattler struck at my hand without warning. Fortunately for me he missed the target. After slaying the reptile I saw that it had five rattles and a button on his tail. Also there was a large lump in his stomach. Upon examination the lump turned out to be a mole in the process of being digested. Feeding could have been the reason for no warning before the strike. I am not sure of the exact sound of a rattlesnake as an alarm after that experience!

Although there are rattlesnakes in this state they are not often seen. The wood cutter taking timber from the swamps in the summer time finds most of them. They like the damp warmth of swampy areas and river banks. If left in direct intense sunlight they will soon die. It is common to see reptiles sunning on rocks but never when temperatures are higher than normal. Rattlesnakes are seldom found in jack-pine woods unless water is close by.

Although few things can be done to protect a rattler, most of them are found to be efficient. If such a situation occurs it is advisable to make small cut directly over the wound and if possible, suck the poison incised area, being careful of course, that there are no open wounds in one's mouth.

If living in rattlesnake country, or vacationing there, one should buy a snake bite kit. They cost a dollar and can be found in some drug stores and nearly all sporting goods shops. The metal kit is shaped like your thumb and hardly larger. It can be carried in your car, fishing box, or on your person.

Its contents are all that are needed until professional help is found. The kit contains small rubber suction cups; a sharp blade, such as that on a surgeon's scalpel, and in some kits, a light cord to be used as a tourniquet.

Let us presume that a friend of mine was bitten by a Michigan rattlesnake. The fangs penetrated just above the ankle and below the fleshy part of the calf. Quickly the metal container is opened and its contents spread out where they will be handy. With the scalpel blade a small incision is made, being careful not to sever a vein, directly over the fang marks. Now the tourniquet is placed just below a point where the knee bends. After it is firmly applied, both hands are placed above the wound, fingers touch on one side and the thumbs on the other. The hands are pressed tightly and pushed downwards forcing the infected blood back toward the small foot cut. This can be done two or three times. Next the small rubber suction cup is moistened with water, perhaps by your lips, and squeezed so that both sides touch. It is placed firmly over the fang marks and released. Every sixty seconds the tourniquet should be loosened and then tightened again. This prevents gangrene and clots from forming.

When the rubber cup retains a natural shape it will be full of venom-mixed blood. Empty, clean, and replace. Repeat this process until professional help is found. And remember, the rattlesnake is more frightened than you and will quickly move away if given the opportunity.

Grayling Rapidly Coming Of Age

Grayling is rapidly coming of age as one of the busy business centers of northern Michigan. To us who live here all of the time, things happen so gradually that the change means little to us.

An officer in the Indiana National Guard who hadn't been to Grayling since the 1955 encampment until this year stated, "he nearly went on through Grayling because it had grown so much he didn't recognize it."

No city in northern Michigan of Grayling's size can boast of a four lane thoroughfare bringing traffic in to it. The downtown area continues to grow and new stores are constantly being constructed. The shopping center south of the river on US-27 continues to progress also.

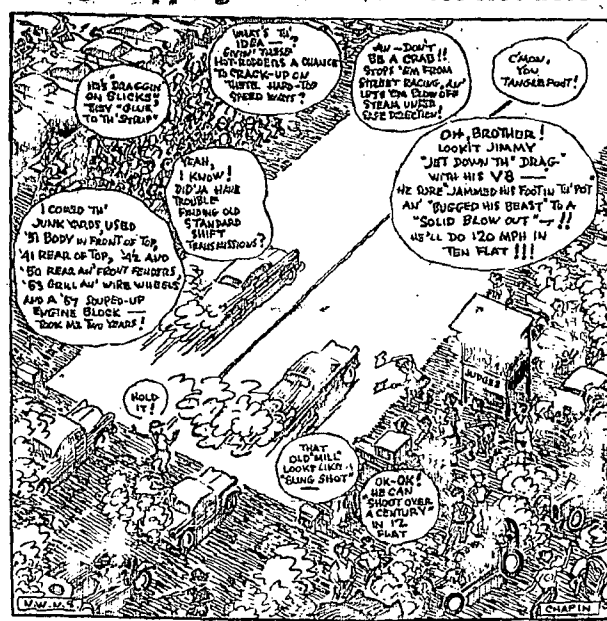

Plans being made by city government and various businesses assure continued growth and expansion in Grayling for some time to come. The opening of the new Interstate Highway 75 will pull increasing traffic and Grayling as other cities of northern Michigan will get their share of increasing business.

Although the completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway apparently would have no direct effect on Grayling, it will be of an upsurging influence in a secondary way. The continued improvement of M-72 both to the east and west from Grayling will bring further bulging of the traffic flowing through our city. The route from Traverse City on Lake Michigan to Harrisville on Lake Huron will in the future become increasingly more important.

The two new signs erected both north and south of the city on US-27 will make the traveling public more aware of Grayling and what it portends. Here is an example of cooperation between business and city government which will show the way to a fantastic future for our area. The next ten to twenty years in Crawford County and Grayling will bring more progress, we predict, than the last fifty years have. Since the end of World War II, Grayling has begun advancing, first slowly but then with ever increasing speed. We stand now at the brink of a growth of business and prosperity of which few of us have even dared dream.

New schools, churches and homes throughout the area point up the increasing wealth and of the wise use which it is being employed. The work of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce and of the Grayling Business Association is to a very large degree responsible for much of this increase in business standing. R. W. S.

An ideal place for entertaining friends at an informal supper party is the Wolff farm, with the river winding through the grounds crossed by rustic bridges which lead to as beautiful trails as can be found anywhere. A gay party of some fifty friends gathered at the farm Saturday evening to meet guests of the Wolffs, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Graham of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn White and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Richman of Cleveland. Following the supper, the party turned into a song fest with all the old time melodies winning in popularity over modern tunes.

A very attractive breakfast was given Thursday morning by Mrs. Olaf Melanson to some twenty-two guests at her summer home at Lake Margrethe. The party was given in honor of Mrs. E. J. Adams and Mrs. Lambert of Detroit, house guests of the hostess. At the breakfast, which followed the breakfast, Mrs. Oscar Hanson and Mrs. Marius Hanson held the high score, while Mrs. George Alexander held the lucky house prize number.

The Howard Gordon family have moved into the R. N. Martin house on Maple Street. Mr. and Mrs. H. Hartman of Detroit left for home Tuesday after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Hanson.

Miss Ingeborg Hanson and brother Ronnow are in Lansing for a couple of days visiting relatives and on business.

Carl England returned Sunday to his home in Bay City, after spending some time encamped at the lake and visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Holger A. Hanson of Saginaw are here to spend the month vacationing and visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Marie Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McIntyre returned Monday morning to their home in State College, Pa., after spending a couple of weeks at their cottage at McIntyres.

Mr. and Mrs. Foryst Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin spent Sunday at Boyne City, Charlevoix and Petoskey.

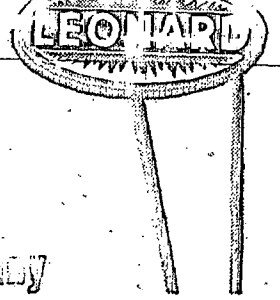

Carl Nielsen made business trips to Detroit and Saginaw during the weekend, in the interest of Grayling-Fish Hatchery. Mrs. Carl Nielsen visited relatives in Pinconning Saturday. Carl Henry Jr. is spending this week with his cousin, Bob Tetu, at West Branch.

Chester Burke, a former school teacher, is now being promoted to Junior Engineer of the large lake steamer Wm. Edensborn of the Pittsburgh Steamship Co., who operate the largest fleet of vessels on the Great Lakes. Mr. Burke being a former school teacher is teaching, while off watch, the men under him, in the technicalities of marine engineering.

H. C. McKinley of Gaylord is in Mercy Hospital suffering with infection in one hand. An accidental knife wound in his left thumb was the cause of his trouble. He entered the hospital Saturday and is getting along very well and says he expects to be able to return to Gaylord the last of the week. In spite of his trouble and his 35 years, Mac is cheerful as ever and says he will be back setting type before long, even though a section of bone was removed from his left thumb a couple of weeks ago. Mr. McKinley is a remarkable person and a fine citizen and we wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Millikin (Virginia Skingley) were guests of honor at a delightful bridal shower given at the Bay Loft on Monday evening. Two wedding cakes graced the lunch table and the young couple were showered with many gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Millikin now reside at Alba.

Grayling baseball team won two games from Buick-Threes of Flint Saturday and Sunday. Laurant told the visitors to one run Saturday and Dodge blanked them Sunday. The popularity of the Grayling and Tom Stevens' baseball teams has caused such widespread interest in the big games that are to be played here next Saturday, Sunday and Monday that the railroads running to this city have been prompt in taking advantage of the opportunity and are going to run special trains on Sunday to accommodate those wishing to attend.

WHY DO WITHOUT A LITTLE LUXURY LIKE THIS... LET ALONE

bigger brakes Bigger, yes, and built with bonded linings for as much as 66% longer life. And how's this for proof that Chevy's a real stopper: in a NASCAR* conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds, Chevrolet outstopped both of the "other two" time after time. *National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

award-winning engines The NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award goes to Chevrolet! Chevy wins for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines... for the establishment of new levels of V8 compactness combined with outstanding smoothness." And you can choose among eight V8's and the Six that won the Mobilgas Economy Run for its class.

full coil ride You're the expert on ride, so you'll want to try Chevy's easygoing smoothness for yourself. MOTOR TREND magazine can give you a hint of what you're in for: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." And Full Coil springs, of course, never squeak, never need grease.

fresh styling POPULAR SCIENCE magazine gave Chevy's styling a thoughtful look, then said it this way: "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling..." You'll find your own happy way of saying that Chevy's the only unmistakably modern car in its class.

greater roominess Automobile Manufacturers Association records carry the facts on this. In a Chevy sedan, for example, you've got more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars! And Chevy's front seat hip room spreads up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

bigger savings Here's solid proof that Chevrolet squeezes more miles out of a gallon: In the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, two Chevrolet sixes, with Powerglide took the first two places in their class—winning mileage: 22.38 m.p.g. And that, friends, took top honors for Chevy from every full-sized car!

higher trade-in N.A.D.A.* Guide Books prove that your Chevrolet will keep its value. Chevy used car prices last year, for example, averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevrolet's field. *National Automobile Dealers Association.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of my mother Mrs. Sarah E. McCracken, who passed away August 10th, 1953.

She bade no one a last farewell. She said Goodbye to none. Her loving heart had ceased to beat. Before we knew it, she was gone.

Each day we surely miss her. Deep in my heart I feel her loss. Lonely in my home without her. Help me O Lord to bear this cross.

In memory of my father, Edward McCracken, who passed away August 16th, 1951.

Not dead to us who loved him. Not lost but gone before. — He lives with us in memory. And will forever more to be remembered. Sweet memories cling to his name. For those who loved him in life sincerely, Still Love him in death just the same.

A thirty-eighth Oaks family reunion was held at the Hartwick on Sunday, August 9th with present. The day was cloudy with warm, long tables under the trees were spread with all kinds of delicious foods, and everyone too much, we know.

Following the dinner, gift presentations were made, first to Mrs. Oakes of Ohio for the old Oaks of Ohio, she being 87 years old; to Gregory John West for the youngest present; and Mrs. Kenneth Schultz of Merfor having the largest family with 14 children; to Gerald Barger of Toledo, for being the one who came the greatest distance, next came the presentation of the minutes of the last reunion were read and approved. Letters came from Flint, Melrose Park, Ill., Oxnard, Cal., Moberg, So. Dakota, Huntington, Minn., Oscoda, Cora, and Flushing.

It was voted upon as to the location of the next meeting, with the following results:

Flint, Saginaw and Grayling being named. Flint received the most votes, so we will go to Flint next year.

Officers elected for the next reunion were president, Ray Oakes of Fenton; vice-president, Dale Parker of Flint; secretary-treasurer, Leona Goward of Flint. The president is to appoint the entertainment committee later.

Races for the young folks came next. Winners in the 10 to 12 year group were Michael Palmer of Grayling; in the 6 to 8 year group, by Kerry Palmer and Peggy Palmer of Grayling; in the 10 to 12 year group, by Kay Stephan and Sharron Palmer, both of Grayling; and in the 4 to 6 year group by Phillip Lennert of Howell and Sally Lee Stephan of Grayling.

The penny prize of a beautiful lawn mower was won by a guest, Edward Ewald of Caro.

A collection to cover next year's expenses was taken up. Then came the ball game, which was called on account of rain. All lined up for ice cream, then departed for home, saying they all had a wonderful time.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Telling "Fibs" Is Not Funny

A teenage boy writes: "I have a friend who is always telling little 'fibs'—nothing real serious, just things like telling his folks he is going over to my house when he is actually going to a movie or to someone else's house. I think this is a bad habit and told him so, but he just laughs at me. Don't you think it is wrong?"

It is very wrong, for several reasons. One reason that it is wrong should be obvious even to the offender: get into the habit of telling little lies and first thing you know these little 'fibs' have grown into great big lies—which are just as easy to tell.

Actually, the friend isn't "fibbing" when he tells his parents he is going over to my house when he is actually going to a movie or to someone else's house. He is going over to my house when he is actually going to a movie or to someone else's house. He is going over to my house when he is actually going to a movie or to someone else's house.

An emergency of one kind or another, accident or sickness, for instance, may make it necessary that parents get in touch with their children immediately and they can't do this if the children are not where they are supposed to be.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, write to: FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL YOUTH NEWS SERVICE, 1000 NEW YORK AVENUE, NEW YORK, N.Y.

1958 State Tax Study Book Now Headed For File

THE WIDELY-QUOTED 573 page "redbook" on Michigan taxes is headed for the archives.

Someday a tax researcher may blow the dust off a bound volume of the staff papers of the 1958 Michigan Tax Study and use it as background for a new study of Michigan's tax structure.

Most of the recommendations based on the 1958 study were scuttled by the 1958 Legislature.

Also scuttled was the dream of Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) for an overhaul of Michigan's patchwork revenue system.

Conlin was a proud man Dec. 2, 1958, when a Citizens' Advisory Committee appointed by his House Tax Committee came up with a comprehensive program for revising the tax structure.

The program was promptly dubbed the "Conlin Plan."

It was built around a graduated personal income tax.

The graduated income tax, endorsed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, failed to get wide support in the House and was denounced in the Senate. Conlin turned to a "piggy back" income tax—it failed in the House.

He then tried a flat rate income tax it slipped by the House with one vote to spare, but was clobbered within minutes after it arrived in the Senate.

Conlin, a pipe-smoking farmer who says he is serving his last term in a 16-year legislative career, didn't vote when the House passed plans to increase the sales tax.

But everybody in the chamber knew what he was thinking.

THE LEGISLATURE MAY be asked next year to require zoning boards and other bodies at the township level to open their meetings and records to the public.

Kenneth West, managing editor of the Lansing State Journal and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the Michigan Press Association, said some study was expected in this direction.

West's committee was instrumental in securing passage of a bill requiring open meetings and records of school boards.

The 1959 "Right-to-Know" bill was sponsored by Reps. William Romano (D-Warren), Elmer E. Landrum (D-Escanaba), Robert Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe) and Russell Strange Jr. (R-Clare).

Senator John H. Stahl (R-Belding) championed the freedom of information cause in the Senate.

Stahl was responsible for killing an amendment that would have allowed school boards to take final action in closed-door executive sessions "in the public interest."

"This would not be a fair way to do it," Stahl said. "You would be taking away a freedom. A little group of people could shut everybody out, make a decision and let you know about it afterwards."

Stahl will be remembered as one of the most colorful freshmen in legislative history.

He was popular among Senate GOP leaders early in the session when he criticized the Democratic state highway administration during his maiden speech, which was delivered in a Will Rogers style. But his colleagues held him with less enthusiasm when he argued they could get things done more quickly.

During the last days of the session he was openly critical of what he called "the wheels" in the Senate.

MICHIGAN MEN are making their mark in Washington. When Frederick H. Mueller, Grand Rapids, was nominated as Secretary of Commerce, it was the third time President Eisenhower selected a Michigan man to serve in his cabinet.

Others were Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Charles E. Wilson, former Secretary of Defense.

Army Secretary Wilbur E. Brucker, former Michigan governor, heads list of others from Michigan who have key jobs in the Eisenhower administration.

Michigan drivers go 1st class!

For the new heavy-duty highways that count most...

the choice is modern CONCRETE!

On important Michigan highways already completed... on others now building
... on more still coming... concrete means tax savings and real dollar value

When you see a new concrete road—congratulate yourself on getting the best highway money can buy.

Michigan's newest concrete roads will last 50 years and more.

Even the older ones outlasted other pavements 2 to 1.
Upkeep will run as much as 60% less than for asphalt! Remember, even on the new Interstate System, where Uncle Sam pays 90% of the price of the highway, Michigan pays for the upkeep—every red cent of it. With concrete the initial cost isn't just a down payment.

Don't forget that gliding smooth ride you get on modern concrete. And the extra safety, too. Mighty reassuring—that grainy, skid-resisting surface—when you have to stop in a hurry. At night, light-reflecting concrete lets you see—doesn't kill light the way black pavement does.

These are just some of the reasons why concrete's the choice for Michigan's first class highways—especially for the new Interstate System.

Sr. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mingus end of August 1st with the Schabbles.

Sunday before last were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Spencer and children Cherl-Ann, Diane and Nich-ael, of Walled Lake.

Tom Kearney of Detroit visited his aunt, Mrs. Bertha Peterson,

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

"Consumers Marketing Information Cooperating with County Extension Service"

Put a new page in your peen-buying notebook. Why? Because there is a plan underway to give you better-than-ever Michigan peaches. What it is all about? It is about Extra No. 1 Michigan peaches.

Extra No. 1 Michigan peaches are just that - EXTRA. These peaches have extra color, full ripeness - and, so, extra good flavor. How can you be sure?

Extra No. 1 is Michigan's top grade for peaches - the same standards as set in U. S. No. 1 Extra grade for peaches. To be sure of the peaches' goodness - here is how the plan will work.
Peach growers will grade the peaches - either in the orchards or in the packing shed. After that, Federal - State inspectors will spot-check the peaches at shipping points. This is just to be sure all peaches meet the standards of Extra No. 1 grade.

Extra No. 1 is a designation arrive in your grocery store. Inspectors from Michigan Department of Agriculture spot-check peaches there. So you can be sure your money is buying the quality you expect.

That is the plan - from peach orchard to your refrigerator. With all this checking, where is the problem? The big problem is keeping the quality.

To be graded Extra No. 1, peaches will have to be ripe that-usual-when picked. This means extra, careful handling during picking, grading and packing. It means extra care during shipping - and it means extra care by your retailer.

Look for the Extra No. 1 grade
Michigan peaches. If you don't see them in your store - ask about them. You deserve the best, you know.

Your retailer and your consumer marketing agent will be interested in your comments about
Extra No. 1 Michigan peaches.

All this care and the "extra" quality in Extra No. 1 peaches means you'll get "extra" good peaches with no waste - except the pit. So - the price per pound of Extra No. 1 peaches may be a bit more than other peaches you'll see, cost per "all peach" serving will probably be no more than usual.

Look for the Extra No. 1 grade
Michigan peaches. If you don't see them in your store - ask about them. You deserve the best, you know.

Your retailer and your consumer marketing agent will be interested in your comments about Extra No. 1 Michigan peaches.

ernization plan, inaugurated last year.

Under it, space will be kept in the local freight houses for the receipt of both outbound and inbound less-than-carload freight. A local shipper seeking information or to transact business, can call the Saginaw office, toll-free, over what is known as an "Enterprise" telephone. Receivers of inbound carload freight will be advised of car arrivals via phone. Daily a representative of the Saginaw agent will call on and assist freight customers in the various communities. A free pickup-and-delivery service of less-than-carload shipments, a service not now in existence, will be furnished within the corporate limits of each community.

The railroad states the new plan gives shippers in smaller communities the advantage of large city freight service, such as superior rating, billing, routing and car tracing, in addition to the new pickup-and-delivery service, thereby providing them with better and more efficient service.

The plan, Central officials assert, takes the line's present small-town freight operations out of the horse-and-buggy era and will enable it to give modern service to customers in those communities. The program, they explain, is now in operation in the Saginaw - Bay City area.

HAVE WE PLANNED FOR GROWTH?

There was the St. Bernard who grew and grew as some dogs will and awoke one day to find himself stuck in the dog house. All because nobody planned for his growth. Some towns have found themselves in the same fix, and for the same reason.

How about our town?

Are we concerned enough about having a future for our town, about having a future in our town for the boys and girls now growing up?

If we are, then we as individuals will be solidly behind the kind of community planning that provides for growth and opens the way for prosperity. It includes, for example, modern zoning, thorough financial planning by the municipality, preparation for adequate schools and services and the provision of fully developed land for industry.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.
